Donating Books to the Library

Thank you for donating materials to the Joeten-Kiyu Public Library. We welcome books and other information resources that strengthen the collection and support the library's educational programs.

All donations receive careful consideration by library staff. Materials appropriate to be added to the library's collection include recently published books on subjects collected by the library and additional copies of high-use items. Items that fall outside of the library's collection subject areas, outdated textbooks and computer books, duplicate copies of low-use items, materials in poor physical condition, and similar items will not be accepted.

Gift materials are given to the library without condition. Upon receipt, gifts become the property of the Joeten-Kiyu Public Library. The library reserves all rights to determine additions to the collection or disposal. Items not added to the collection may be given to other libraries, sold to raise money to purchase other items, or given away for free.
